Pair Held for Series of 14 Burglaries

A series of 14 burglaries in Hope during the past year were cleared up yesterday by local police following the arrest of two Negro men.

Chief of Police Jack Brown listed the men as Robert James Thomas and Willie Brown.

Officers said the pair had admitted to 14 small burglaries the largest haul only recently when they got $165 from the Turner-James Service Station.

Chief Brown said the pair broke into Rodden Esso Station three times last year, getting over $100. They hit Lloyd Lingo's place west on Highway 67 twice but got only a total of $20.80. Nothing was missing from Patterson's Station and keys were taken from Buckley's Station. Twice they entered Barry's Quick Sak, the total loot being $15.20 in money and a $90 check. Moxley's Grocery netted them $50. Purdie's Station $33 and merchandise was taken from Chance's Bail House. The last job was the Turner-James Station.

Officers Brown, Sheriff Jimmie Griffin and State Police Lt. Scrub Mosier said the pair got $387.80 in money, quite a bit of merchandise and that $150 had been recovered.

Both were lodged in Hempstead County jail, pending trial for burglary.

Only yesterday City Police announced the arrest of eight Negro girls and believed they broke up a shoplifting ring that had been operating for some time. Considerable merchandise was recovered.

Tshombe Has Returned to Help Forces

By DENNIS NEEDLE

ELISABETHVILLE, Katanga (AP)—Swedish U.N. troops have taken a north Katanga rail town without a fight, tightening the military squeeze on Moise Tshombe's towering movement for independence.

The thrust into Kaniama, 360 miles northwest of Elisabethville came as the U.N. Command was believed preparing an ultimatum to Tshombe demanding that he surrender his last-ditch stronghold of Kolwezi.

Tshombe has threatened to resort to scorched earth warfare, but British officials say they have had word that he plans an early return to Elisabethville.

U.N. headquarters in New York denounced Tshombe's scorched earth threats as reckless and irresponsible. A spokesman for Secretary-General U. Thant said the United Nations will exert every effort to prevent application of such a policy.

U.N. officials have promised Tshombe safe conduct to return to the capital, but they have made it clear there is no chance for any second looks at reunification. Thant wants to put his unity plan into effect by Jan. 14.

Although time appeared to be running out for the Katanga president, it was believed he still had 10 days or so before the U.N. force would be ready to strike at Kolwezi from Jadotville, about 80 miles to the southeast. If he agrees to end resistance, Tshombe might still wrest a position of power for himself in a Katanga already being absorbed into the Congo by central government administrators following in the wake of the U.N. armies.

The U.N. Command meantime may order its Ethiopian troops from Elisabethville southeastward along the Northern Rhodesian border to reopen vital road and rail links with supply sources.

U.N. Undersecretary Ralph Bunche said the southern supply route is needed to supply Elisabethville's civilian population with food and other essentials.

Construction Loans Total $20 Millions

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Arkansas savings and loan companies loaned $29 million in 1962, most of it for new construction of single-family home building, David McDonald of Stuttgart, president of the Arkansas Savings and Loan Association, said Monday.

He said total assets of the companies reached $405 million by Dec. 31, 1962, an increase of $30 million compared to the year before.

McDonald predicted that home mortgage credit will be plentiful this year but the recent anti-discrimination order by the president "has injected an element of uncertainty into the outlook."

"If we assume that the industry and home buyers will adjust readily to the presidential order, home starts should show a small increase," he said.

If the gain materializes, McDonald said he believes it will be due to a growing demand for apartments, rather than to the single-family home market.

The economic climate in the state in 1962 was one of moderate growth, said Raymond Ledwidge of Hot Springs, secretary of the Arkansas Savings and Loan Association. He said the climate was expected to continue through this year.

To Evaluate Mentality of Retarded

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Governor's Advisory Committee on the Mentally Retarded has recommended that the state set up a traveling diagnostic service to evaluate exceptional children for the schools.

Committee Chairman Jake Sklar said Monday the recommendation was among those made to Gov. Orval E. Faubus for consideration by the 1963 legislature, which convenes Monday.

Sklar said the school districts have no services to evaluate these students and to make a distinction between those who are merely trainable and those who are capable of absorbing some education.

He suggested that the service should include a psychologist, a social worker and an advisor to help the schools with special education classes. He estimated this type of service would cost the state $25,000 yearly.

The committee chairman said also that the group had recommended that the education department increase its aid to school districts for special classes as funds become available. It has suggested that the department hire a full time director of special education.

Sklar said lack of trained teachers is one of the problems in establishing additional special classes for exceptional children. He said he feels that the state colleges and the Arkansas Children's Colony should increase programs to turn out more of these specially trained teachers.

State Senator Hurt in Wreck

JONESBORO, Ark. (AP)—State Sen. Lee Bearden, 53, of Leachville, was reported in good condition this morning after a restless night in a Jonesboro hospital.

Bearden suffered three cracked ribs and possible internal injuries Monday in a traffic accident four miles east of here. He is expected to remain in the hospital several days.

McClellan Bill Would Ban Strikes

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., said today he will introduce bills to outlaw strikes in defense industries and to place transportation workers unions under antitrust laws.

"I think the need for such legislation increases with each passing day, almost," McClellan told a reporter, citing strikes at plants producing Polaris missiles and the current strike of east and gulf coast longshoremen.

Conditions that now prevail — some of the strikes now in progress — clearly indicate that the public frequently is the greatest victim and suffers most from the lack of adequate laws to protect the general welfare and public interest in these areas," McClellan said.

McClellan has ordered a preliminary study by his Senate Investigations Subcommittee staff of allegations that "featherbedding" was a bigger issue in the dock workers' strike than wages or fringe benefits. Strike leaders have denied this.

Featherbedding is a term for unnecessary jobs which often involve little or no work, but are required under union contracts.

McClellan said his bills would be similar to measures he had introduced in the 1961-62 Congress but which died in committee. He said he would press for action on them this year.

One of the bills would set up compulsory arbitration machinery to settle labor disputes in any "strategic defense facility" defined as one engaged in "designing, development, production, test firing or launching of munitions, weapons, missiles, space vehicles, or any part, product or material essential" to these things.

The other would invoke antitrust laws against any union acting "in concert with any employer or any other labor organization" in a strike which would "restrain substantially the transportation of persons or property in trade or commerce" between states or with foreign nations.

JFK May Have Slim Margin on Program

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy appeared today to be holding a slim margin in a tight struggle to clear the track for action in the new Congress on major segments of his legislative program.

Kennedy previews his proposals for leaders of both parties at a late afternoon White House conference in advance of Wednesday's formal opening of the 88th Congress.

Members who have discussed his program with him predicted no surprise requests. A possible exception could be a renewed recommendation for action on a bill to eliminate satellite literacy tests in voting—a measure the Senate killed last May.

As new members of the House and Senate made the round of coffee klatches and other get acquainted affairs, leaders quietly discussed the possibility of breaking up what promises to be a lengthy session with a summer recess.

House Democrats, called into caucus, were expected to give majority support to a move to retain the slim liberal margin on the powerful Rules Committee by keeping its membership at 15.

Kennedy has said his program will be bottled up if the committee reverts to conservative control in a 12-member lineup, as it would do unless the House acts affirmatively.

In the Senate, bipartisan liberals encountered rough going in a scheduled effort to change the rule that requires a two-thirds majority the right to end filibustering met some strong opposition.

Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois announced in advance of an afternoon party caucus that he is opposed to the majority vote proposal.

With Republicans filling only 33 of the Senate's 100 seats, Dirksen hinted broadly that he expects most GOP members to vote against the rules change proposal.

Southern opponents of civil rights legislation were called into session by Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., to map a filibuster against the rules proposal.

Russell and his teammates have threatened to talk for weeks. Dirksen said, however, he thinks the controversy can be resolved within a reasonable time.

The tentative scheduling of congressional action on Kennedy's major recommendations left room for a possible August recess.

The House Ways and Means Committee expects to go to work shortly on presidential proposals to cut down special exemptions and income treatments in the revenue code and to reduce rates for individual and corporation taxpayers.

Leaders hope to have this measure ready for an early June vote in the House and possible Senate action late in July.

Since Ways and Means also must handle such matters, the outlook is clouded for Kennedy's proposal to finance health care for the elderly through Social Security taxes.

Buying Rush Swamps the Post Offices

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Arkansans put on a buying rush in one, five and eight-cent stamps Monday after the new postal rates became effective at midnight Sunday.

Post Offices throughout the state reported heavy demand for all three stamps, and in some instances supplies were exhausted.

Little Rock's Post Office officials reported lines of customers for all three stamps throughout the day. The major demands were for ones and fives.

Apparently persons with four-cent stamps plan to combine them with one-cent stamps to meet the new regular letter rate of five cents, or with the old seven-cent stamps to meet the new eight-cent airmail rates.

Postmaster Paul E. Francis said at Hot Springs the rush was heavier than during the Christmas season.

"They were lined up out to the doors trying to buy stamps," he said. "We're doing a land office business."

He said the supply of stamps in Hot Springs was sufficient to meet the demand.

That wasn't the case at other points, though. At De Queen and at Hope supplies of one cent stamps were exhausted.

Asst. Postmaster Ralph Mahan at Texarkana estimated that 75,000 one-cent stamps went over the counters Monday. He reported that demand for all three stamps, mostly ones and fives, was "extremely high all day long."

Legislature Sees Trouble With Teachers

By JOHN R. STARR

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — With start of the 1963 General Assembly less than a week away, key lawmakers still do not see any item of controversy to match the teacher retirement issue of 1961.

But there will be touchy subjects, as there always are when 100 House members and 35 senators convene each two years for 60 days of lawmaking.

Hot Springs gambling, truck weights, city and county turnbacks, the Game and Fish Commission, University of Arkansas financing, the Land Department and withholding tax are expected to set off the major sparks this year.

Without significant dispute, the General Assembly is expected to tighten state spending procedures, increase the maximum welfare grant from $65 to $85, set up a voter registration system and re-evaluate election laws.

Few legislators see much hope for success of an expected effort to legalize gambling at Hot Springs. Several said they privately favor the proposal but could not vote for it publicly.

Introduction of a truck weight bill is considered a certainty and a companion measure increasing license fees for big trucks is likely. The same lawmakers who beat a truck weight bill in 1961 want to see this year what kind of proposal is advanced before committing themselves.

The Legislative Council recently took official note that a problem exists in city-county financing but did not attempt to specify what relief is needed. There is little sentiment among legislators for giving cities and counties a larger slice of existing revenues.

Most likely move on this front is an effort to increase the gasoline tax with the revenue allocated to city streets and county roads and to grant cities additional taxing power so they can raise needed general funds locally.

The past two legislatures tried to do the latter by constitutional amendments, but voters balked. The General Assembly has power, however, to give cities any taxing power except to levy additional property tax.

Cities also want authority to sell a city vehicle license, a power which was revoked in 1957.

A new effort to levy a soft drink tax, with part of the revenue allocated to state construction projects, has been rumored. Legislators turned a deaf ear to such a proposal in 1961.

A check of lawmakers indicates that the anti-tax sentiment is as strong this year as it was in 1959 and 1961 when no new general tax measures were proposed.

A breach between the legislature and the Game and Fish Commission has been widening since a year ago when the commission ignored a Legislative Council request for a stepped-up wolf trapping program.

The constitutional amendment which created the Game and Fish Commission makes it independent of the legislature and lawmakers long have resented the absence of control. The Legislature can put heat on the commission by adjusting its budget and such a move is expected this year.

The University of Arkansas has served notice that it needs more than the $1 million budget increase approved by the council. Gov. Orval E. Faubus said he hopes to find more money for the university. Deciding where it will come from could create a major row.

The withholding movement for state income tax has backing from the council and Faubus and could be settled without a squabble if lawmakers can agree on whether

Demos Vote Rules Group Enlargement

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Democrats voted today to enlarge the Rules Committee in a move to give liberals a one-vote margin of control.

The decision at a party caucus represented one step toward victory for President Kennedy who has contended the expansion is necessary to clear the path for action on major segments of his program.

But it still has to get through the House itself. The President appears to have a thin margin there.

The Democrats took no action on a demand by some liberals that the committee's power to block major legislation be curbed.

Southern conservatives opposed what they called a move to pack the committee but were snowed under. They will renew the fight Wednesday at the opening session of the 88th Congress.

Republicans planned to consider the Rules Committee issue at a party huddle later today. GOP leaders have announced their opposition to the increase and are expected to hold most Republican members, but not all, in line when the issue is settled finally.

The drive to increase the committee to 15 members was spearheaded by Kennedy and his House leaders. If it succeeds, the committee will be composed of 10 Democrats and five Republicans, with eight liberal Democrats nominally in control. An increase this year would be permanent, thereby averting a renewal of the fight two years from now.

All the voting at the Democratic House caucus was by voice. The session was described as harmonious by the winners as well as the losers.

John W. McCormack of Massachusetts was unanimously renominated for speaker and will be elected Wednesday by the entire House. He was nominated by Rep. Philip J. Philbin of Massachusetts.

Rep. Carl Albert of Oklahoma was reelected majority leader.

Completed Legal Duty, Holt Rules

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Atty. Gen. Jack Holt Jr. ruled Monday that Gov. Orval E. Faubus completed his legal duty in the two-sheriff dilemma of Marion County.

Vying for the office are Jack Pace of Yellville, the incumbent before the Nov. 6 general election, and George Hickey of Flip-pin, a write-in candidate. Each claims he won the election, each has been sworn in as sheriff and collector and each held a commission from the governor's office.

Holt's opinion indicated Faubus had completed his responsibilities by acting on a Marion County Court order that a commission issued to Hickey be revoked and issued to Pace.

Pace apparently lost the election, but appealed to the County Court, which threw out 663 of the ballots cast for Hickey. Hickey, however, received a Circuit Court writ superseding the County Court order.

The Circuit Court held that Hickey should continue serving as sheriff under his commission until a hearing could be held in Circuit Court. No date has been set for the hearing.

Turnback Funds Are in Mail

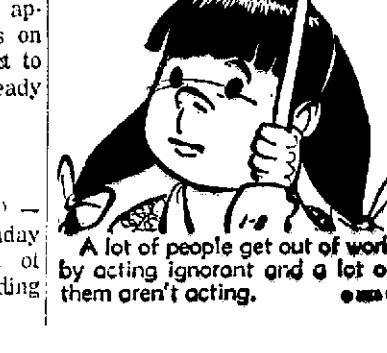

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — State Treasurer L. A. Clayton said Monday a total of $3,872,291 in turnback funds would be mailed this week to cities and counties.

Clayton said $2,314,590 would be distributed to the counties on the basis of a legislative formula. The remaining $1,557,701 will be prorated among the cities.

The distribution is a quarterly allocation of general, gasoline and severance taxes collected by the state in the previous four months.

Matt was young, and as far as she knew unattached.

THE STORY: A scientist working on a nuclear power project has disappeared and a private investigator, Matt Bacon, has been retained to determine if espionage is involved.

About 11 a. m., Matt Bacon was admitted through the visitor's entrance and went into conference with Jack Clague.

Matt was a young man, average in height. His features were such that he was nice looking, not handsome, but pleasant. But there was a look of hardness about his gray eyes.

Clague explained briefly that he wanted Matt to check out the possibility of fellow travelers in the place. "And find Pruitt?" Matt asked. "That's quite a job for one man if the police and F.B.I. aren't making any headway."

"It isn't a question of finding him, Matt," said Clague. "We want to show that Pruitt could have disappeared even if Russia was voting straight Republican or Democrat, instead of Communist."

"In other words, you don't care what happened to him, as long as you can show it wasn't the result of red leanings, or operations?"

"I wouldn't put it quite so blunt," said Clague. "We care of course."

Matt closed his eyes. Then opened them. "Pruitt was murdered."

"You know that, or are you guessing?"

"But he took no clothes, except what he was wearing. Police have checked the airport, trains, buses and found no trace. His own car isn't missing. His wife said he never carried much cash — just enough to take care of his pocket expenses."

"Amnesia?"

"Phooey!" said Matt. "Somebody would recognize him. His picture has been in every paper and on television all over the country."

"Okay. You say he was murdered. We still don't know if Reds did it."

"Well, Jack, I might be able to find out."

"You'll do it?"

"Sure. For five grand, plus expenses. The expenses won't be much."

Clague thought it over. "I'll have to call Corbin."

Matt stood up.

"Hey, where you going? Corbin probably will okay it."

"We'll both go see him, in person. I want to ask him some questions. Maybe he's the killer."

Clague reached out and caught Matt's arm. "Matt, let's just prove what Corbin wants proved without hurting anybody."

Matt looked Clague straight in the eye. "Don't worry."

They walked over to the Administration Building. It lay directly to the east of the South Gate Time Office and formed the third corner of a triangle marked by the Security Office and the Time Office.

They took the elevator to the second floor and walked down a corridor to Bradley's office suite. An outer reception room was flanked on either side by doors.

One carried Bradley's name, the other bore the name of Malcolm Westfall, assistant to the general manager.

A pretty dark haired secretary sat at the desk in the reception room. She looked up, smiled at Clague and then appraised his companion.

"Hello, Suzy," said Clague. "This is Matt Macon, who's going to do some work for us."

"Pleased to meetcha," she said smiling. Suzy was unmarried. Matt was young and as far as she knew unattached. She could find out about that later.

"Tell Corbin we're here," said Clague. "He'll talk to us."

Suzy went into Bradley's office and returned almost immediately.

"Mr. Bradley says to come in, Mr. Clague." Her eyes followed Matt as she went toward the door. Matt winked at her and she turned quickly away.

Bradley rose from his chair and the unprecedented thing of walking around his desk to shake hands. Matt took the cigar Bradley offered and stuffed it into his pocket.

Then Bradley returned to his chair and sat down.

"Jack told you what we wanted done, I suppose?"

Matt nodded.

"It'll be an easy job," said Bradley. "We just want to check on the key personnel. Clague will help you—we've already made a security check, of course, and the records are here. We just want you to go over our records, look that all of our people are good, 100 per cent Americans."

"It's not as easy as you think," said Matt. "and it will cost you $5,000. I may have to have help. One man can't check all the employees you have in this place."

Bradley exploded. "Outrageous!"

"For the kind of job you ask, it's cheap."

Bradley settled back for a moment. When he spoke it was as if he were talking to himself. "If you could solve the case — find out why Pruitt disappeared—"

"He was murdered, he says," Clague put in.

Bradley looked first at Clague, then at Bacon. "How do you know?"

"I'll put it on my report," said the detective. "But don't expect me to do more than the police on this case. They haven't even found the body. If they find the body, they'll probably be able to turn up the killer and the reasons why he was killed."

"If they haven't found the body could you do it?"

"I don't know. I haven't tried."

"And it would cost $5,000 to try?"

"I'll make a deal, Mr. Bradley," said Matt, stepping up to the desk. "I'll find what happened to Pruitt, or you don't pay me a cent. If I find him, whether or not there's an international plot will resolve itself. Personally, I don't put much stock in the idea. If I fail, you only pay my expenses."

"If it isn't solved in 10 days, it won't do us any good."

"I'll tell you this much, Mr. Bradley. The longer you wait in a case like this, the colder the trail gets. It's already been out in the weather five days. In another week Doc Pruitt will be as good as Judge Crater."

Bradley held out his hand. "Five thousand for five days, with guaranteed results. I'll have Suzy draw up a contract."

Matt shook the hand. "A contract isn't necessary, Mr. Bradley. You're a reputable man."

Matt emphasized the adjective. "I'm not afraid for myself," said Bradley. "I want that guarantee on paper. Otherwise you could sue us for a fee for professional services."

Matt laughed. "Do it your own way, Mr. Bradley. And you can also write a check for five hundred."

"Five hundred? What for?"

"Expenses. Mr. Bradley. I might have to make a phone call."

While Suzy typed the contract, Matt remained with Bradley in Bradley's outer office.

"Got any ideas about what happened to Pruitt?" Matt asked. "I thought you knew," Bradley said. "I said I had an idea. But I like assorted viewpoints."

Bradley shook his head. "I didn't even know he was missing until his wife called me Thursday night. I talked to Pruitt right after lunch. He was on his way back to the nuclear lab. I asked him how he was getting along. He said he wasn't making much progress, but he expected a break-through."

"What kind of a project was he working on?"

"It's under security wraps, but I can tell you a little. Everybody's trying to develop a cheap source of atomic power. Something to compete with oil, gas, coal, water, and so on. We got atomic power, but it's expensive. We've got a lot of men working on the cost angle."

"Pruitt didn't seem nervous or depressed, when you talked to him?"

"No. He always went around in a cloud. I didn't notice any-era? bill so forces favoring land the taxpayer should be forgiven a year of back taxes in the year that withholding starts.

If a year's tax is not forgiven, the taxpayer will be billed for the past year while taxes for the current year are being withheld from his paycheck.

Efforts by Pulaski County Rep. J. H. Cottrell and others to strip the Land Department of its functions could have repercussions that would tie up the General Assembly for weeks.

The Land Department's budget, cut in half by the council, is included in a general appropriation bill that must be passed before any other appropriation bill is acted upon. Twenty-six votes in the House and nine in the Senate can block passage of the general bill so forces favoring land commissioner. Sam Jones could demand restoration of his budget if they have that many votes in either House.

In 1963 Legislature also is expected to set aside some money for purchase of additional land adjacent to the capitol grounds. Three square blocks just west of the grounds are in an urban renewal project and can be had for a relatively small amount.

Faubus has not announced his legislative program, except to say he would push for increasing welfare grant and for expanding the state park system. No trouble is expected on the welfare score, since the increase would depend on how much money becomes available. Success of the parks project probably will depend on from where Faubus proposes to get the money.

It might come from an estimated $7 to $10 million windfall the state will get if it starts withholding without forgiving any tax.

At any rate, division of the windfall should provoke spirited debate.

The University of Arkansas, the Medical Center, the Children's Colony and other agencies which one or more legislators feel did not get an adequate budget increase from the council probably would get in line for part of it.

Part of it probably would be allotted to expansion of the 1961 building program at state institutions, including the university and seven state colleges.

Teachers' retirement, which disrupted the 1961 session, is not expected to be a host issue this time. Faubus, the Arkansas Education Association and the Teacher Retirement System Board are working out a compromise.

"The police had the time card, but they sent it back. It's in the business office files now," said Bradley.

"Tomorrow is soon enough. I'll have to check some other things first. How about the check-out system at the gate?" Bacon spoke to Clague.

"Everybody except Mr. Bradley and the department heads punch out, Matt. But we've got an electronic system that makes it simple and easy and it gives us a record of every person who was on the grounds every day."

"Any chance of doctoring it?"

"Not a chance. Besides, anyone caught trying gets fired."

"The murderer might take a chance—a pretty big chance in order to cover his tracks."

"No, Matt. It can't be done. I've got five men on the South Gate, where Pruitt checked out. He couldn't have pulled anything. We've got a lot of men working through the gate."

"Maybe he isn't gone," said Matt. "I think he's dead and the body's hidden somewhere."

Mona Lisa Day in U.S. Capital

By RAYMOND J. CROWLEY

WASHINGTON (AP)—It's Mona Lisa day in the capital today—an outpouring of artistic appreciation across the seas and across the centuries.

Whatever Mona, the young matron with the mysterious smile, might have thought of it all, there is no doubt that the man who did her picture, Leonardo da Vinci would have loved it.

For artist Leonardo was also an inventor and gadgeteer of parts, and Mona's welcome to this country combines a strange medley of Renaissance splendor with the most modern conveniences.

For here was President Kennedy, in his great jet, coming from Palm Beach to introduce the 450-year-old masterpiece to Americans. Here were closed-circuit television eyes, manned by Secret Service men, guarding the lady in her burglar-proof vault, until the moment she was taken out to be hung against a tremendous swatch of burgundy velvet in the west sculpture hall of the National Gallery of Art.

DOROTHY DIX

IT'S ALL OR NOTHING
WITH BOY SHE DATES

By HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE

Dear Helen: Read the following from my current boy friend and tell me what you think I should do. I hesitate to get serious, having almost gone too far with another boy. We broke for our mutual good but the resulting scar was deep. Here's the letter:

"Dear . . . : On our first date you gave me to understand that you were a decent girl. But you also said maybe you'd want to get serious. Believe me, I want to be serious about you but your attitude was chilling as an Arctic wind. To be frank, you acted as passionate as a wet rag."

Now I still care but not the way you wish—a kiss, a hug and let it go at that. Don't get me wrong, I'm not asking you to let me have everything but you can make me feel like I'm wanted, can't you?"

—Tom.

Should I tell Tom about my experience with the other boy or say he must be satisfied with me as I am? —Confused

Dear Confused: Tom is up to no good, judging from the tone of his letter. He's simply leading you on for the sake of a conquest. If he really cared, he would be thinking of you, not himself. Tell him nothing except that he is a wet blanket to your better instincts.

What he is looking for is a girl to play around with before getting really serious about some girl like his mother or sisters—the kind of girl a man marries.

Dear Helen: Being the oldest one present at family gatherings, I am frequently asked to say grace and inevitably find myself at a loss for words. Could you suggest a relatively short prayer which would be suitable? —Grandma

Dear Grandma: What could be more beautiful than Jesus simple benediction, "Peace be to this house"? I also like Tiny Tim's brief blessing in Dickens' Christmas Carol, "God bless us, every one!" And that line from Thoreau, "Whatever we leave to God, God does and blesses us." And Shakespeare's, "I can no other answer make but thanks, and thanks, and ever thanks." Then there is Jean Ingelow's definition of grace, "Joy is the grace we say to God."

Dear Helen: The boy I love married another girl. Our parents forbade us going together because I was too young, being only 16. He is 20. Now we are dating secretly and he is unhappy as I because we've never stopped loving one another.

He's not getting along well with his wife; if it weren't for their little girl he would walk out today. The wife knows about us but won't set him free.

Our minds are made up but before we act we decided to hear your views on our situation. It is impossible to talk to our parents. They don't understand. —Mary and John

Dear M. and J.: The good of the child comes first. If you were out of the picture, Mary, and John already separated from his wife, that would be something else but as it is you're actively taking part in the debacle, which is bad. If you sincerely love John, you will show out. The very fact that you date secretly shows that you both realize it is wrong.

Dear Helen: Help me regain the trust of my mother. We used to be so close. I could go to her with any problem now it's a different story—all because I went with the wrong crowd at high school. Tonight she told me that until I change I can't leave the house except to go to school. She doesn't like the boys I date. —Sorry

Dear Sorry: Welcome, don't resent, your mother's curfew. She is laying down the law for your own good by trying to convince you, the best way she knows how, that you must be more discriminating in your choice of friends. There's a lot of truth in that line, "Show me his friends and I, the man shall know."

Defer to your mother's superior knowledge of life, meet her half way. Love her as much as she loves you. Once you sincerely express this, the old, happy, close relationship will be resumed naturally and humanly. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for my leaflet, "Teenage Code."

Send your problem to Helen Worden Erskine care of this newspaper. Be sure to enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

We appreciate very much the people who send us little quips and interesting news bits for this column-ad. A friend of ours in a distant city sent us some old clippings from a column ad for a department store in Los Angeles. It is very candid and may or may not attract customers, but we feel sure there is not an ad-writer who wouldn't at one time or another like to write something of the same.

We quote from the Los Angeles department store ad: "Various bargains are listed from Misses' dresses; we have 150 dresses waiting for 150 women with pretty odd taste, originally planned for street and cocktail wear, but they might just do for a dog fight."

From sportswear: "Be a sport and take some of these buyers' mistakes off our hands. No one can understand why they didn't sell, unless it is because they're just plain unattractive."

From millinery: "These are the kind of hats that cause those hoots of laughter, but lady, you will be noticed!"

From the linen department: "We are wiping our eyes over this odd lot of towels we can't get rid of. They have sculptured borders that leave such lovely marks on your face."

From the cosmetic department: They offer a musical powder box that plays "Be My Love" off key . . . enough to jangle anyone's nerves, but it is only $2.95. And the girdle salon announces:

"There just aren't as many pear-shaped customers in town as our buyer thought."

As you well know Raley's Style Shoppe is not a department store, and we do not have as many bargains in so many different items. But we are having a clearance sale and . . . it will be fun to come in and see for yourself. There are coats, suits, dresses, hats and accessories, our entire winter stock . . . stop whatever you are doing and shop TODAY at Raley's Style Shoppe, Hope's House of Fashion.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Duke
December 28, Bettie Rateliff and Ray Duke were united in holy matrimony at the First Assembly of God Church with Rev. W. C. Land officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Rateliff and the groom is the son of Mr. J. W. Duke. All of Hope.

Music for the wedding was presented by Bill Land, organist, and Maxine White, vocal soloist. Miss Sandy Shynard, niece of the groom, was flower girl. The Miss of the bride, lighted the tapers in the two 7-branched candelabras. Miss Suzy Shynard, niece of the groom, was flower girl. The Misses Shynards dresses were matching to the wedding party's. Vows for the double ring ceremony were exchanged before an altar centered with a greenery arch and baskets of white gladioli intermingled with white stocks. "The Lord's Prayer" was sung as the couple knelt.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was gownned in white satin bodied overlaid with Alencon lace with long lace sleeves and scalloped neckline. The floor length hooped skirt was satin overlaid with rows of not topped with Alencon lace with an added touch of seed pearls and multi-color sequins. The fingertip veil fell from a crown of seed pearls, multi-color sequins, and small crystals. The bride's only jewelry was a single strand of pearls. She carried an orchid surrounded with white carnations.

Miss Millie Flowers served the bride as maid of honor, and Misses Jo Ann Turnage, Carolyn Maxwell, of Hope, and Pam Ross, of Little Rock, were bridesmaids. They wore identical dresses of cherry-red brocade with long sleeves and high neck. They carried cascade bouquets of white carnations.

Joe Duke, cousin of the groom, of South Gate, California, was the best man. Gerald Vines of Buckner, cousin of the groom, Earl Ray Murphy of Hope, and Donald Brown of Ashdown, served as ushers and groomsmen.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Rateliff wore a dress of royal blue wool with black accessories. Mrs. Duke, mother of the groom, wore turquoise lace with black accessories. Both wore carnation corsages.

After the ceremony, the wedding couple and their guests were invited to the Church's Fellowship Hall for a reception. Greeting the guests at the door was Mrs. Talbot Field, Jr. She introduced them to the receiving line, where they met members of the entire wedding party and parents of the wedding couple.

Red and white was carried out in the reception room. At the far end of the room was a table-size candelabra filled with red candles. Miss Nena Walton guided the guests to the serving tables where Miss Laura Adams served the tiered wedding cake and cake squares and Miss Shirley Harrisfield served the punch with Miss Andrea Anthony assisting. At the bride's book was Miss Ginger Bowden.

Assisting in dispensing hospitality were Mrs. J. D. "Dick" Turnage, Mrs. S. D. Schubert, Mrs. L. A. Shynard, sister of the groom.

When the couple left for a short wedding trip the bride was wearing a black wool tweed suit trimmed in a black rabbit fur. With it she wore black accessories and pinned the orchid corsage from her wedding bouquet at her shoulder.

After the wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Duke will live on East 2nd Street here in Hope, while Mr. Duke works at the First National Bank, and Mrs. Duke is secretary at Bruner-Ivory Handle Company office.

President's Wife One of Best Dressed

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON
AP Fashion Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Mrs. Loel Guinness, wife of an international banker, and Mrs. John F. Kennedy have equal billing at the top of the list of best-dressed women of the world this year.

The daughter of a poet, an international socialite, and an actress-socialite made the list for the first time, and a queen, a princess and a prominent Italian beauty lost out.

Twelve women are on the list which is a result of the annual poll of fashion experts.

Regulars listed with Mrs. Kennedy and Mrs. Guinness are: Princess Lee Radziwili, sister of Mrs. Kennedy; Mrs. David Bruce, wife of the U.S. ambassador to Great Britain; Mme. Herve Alphonse, wife of the French ambassador to the United States; Mrs. Walther Moriera-Salles, Brazil and Paris; Mrs. Charles Wrightsman, New York and Palm Beach; Mrs. John Barry Ryan III, New York; and Mrs. Gianni Agnelli, Turin, Italy.

Mrs. Frederick Eberstadt, wife of a photographer and daughter of poet Ogden Nash, was on the list for the first time. So was Baroness Thyssen-Bornemisza, an art collector of London and Switzerland; and Gloria Vanderbilt Lumet, New York, actress and socialite.

Queen Sirikit of Thailand was not mentioned this year. Nor was Mrs. Umberto Agnelli, sister-in-law of Mrs. Gianni Agnelli, or Princess Alexandra of Kent. Princess Alexandra, however, was listed by the committee as among those to be cited as "outstanding leaders of contemporary taste in dress."

Vicomtesse Jacqueline de Ribes of Paris and Countess Alina Quintanilla of Madrid, both named last year, were elevated by the secret committee of fashion experts to the Fashion Hall of Fame for "inspiring elegance and good taste in dress without extravagance or ostentation."

The committee, in releasing the list, cited Mrs. Kennedy as a symbol of fashion leadership to the average woman everywhere. The First Lady's tastes for simple, easy-fitting clothes and bouffant hairdos have been copied widely.

Mrs. Guinness, Mexican-born Gloria Rubio, is a raven-haired beauty with finely chiseled features. She shops mostly in Paris. She married the wealthy Britisher Loel Guinness in 1951. The committee describes her as the ultimate in elegance.

but was postponed to allow the plaintiff, E. W. Hood of Pine Bluff, more time to prepare.

Hood claims the ballots were invalid because they decided more than one issue. The proposal was broken down into five separate bond issues totaling $2,214,000.

Manslaughter Decision Affirmed

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Arkansas Supreme Court affirmed today a 7-year prison sentence given Isiah Bingley of North Little Rock for manslaughter.

Bingley was charged with first degree murder in the Oct. 27, 1961, fatal shooting of Henry L. Thomas in a North Little Rock cafe.

A Pulaski Circuit Court jury found him guilty of the lesser manslaughter charge and Bingley appealed on grounds the evidence did not support the verdict and that the trial court erred in failing to instruct the jury about penalties for involuntary manslaughter.

The Supreme Court said the evidence amply supported the verdict and that it was not incumbent on the court to discuss involuntary manslaughter in the face of such evidence.

The Supreme Court affirmed a Hempstead Chancery Court ruling awarding custody of Kelly Gilbert, 3, to the mother, Gayle Gilbert Swilley, of Winnfield, La.

When the woman and her husband, John G. Gilbert, were divorced in February 1961, custody was awarded to Gilbert's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Glen Gilbert of Hope. The wife later remarried and was awarded custody

Russia, China Feuding Is Continuing

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union and Red China continued their ideological battle today, accusing each other of betraying the Communist cause and playing into the hands of imperialism.

The latest exchange came in editorials in Pravda, the Soviet Communist party newspaper, and Red Flag, the Chinese Communist party's theoretical magazine.

As usual the Russians directed their fire at Albania, but it was clear the blast was meant for Peking. Red Flag did not mention Soviet Premier Khrushchev and the Soviet Communists by name, but it was also clear that they were the Chinese target.

Pravda asserted that the Soviet Union had averted world nuclear war in the Cuban crisis and accused those who quarrel with peaceful coexistence of following a policy that could lead to armed conflict.

"The Albanian leaders are openly breaking with the Communist movement, with Marxist-Leninism, and are sinking deeper and deeper in the morass of dogmatism, sectarianism and vicious nationalism, and are making increasing use of personality cult methods," Pravda declared.

It accused the Albanian Communists of failing to support the Soviet effort to defend Fidel Castro's Cuba and "bar the road to the atomic maniacs."

"What is more, they actually helped the imperialist instigators to kindle the conflict, to set the U.S.S.R. and the United States at loggerheads, thereby pushing all the world into the abyss of war," said Pravda.

The editorial branded as false charges from Peking that the Soviet Union had capitulated over Cuba, Cuba, it declared, is much stronger today, and "the beacon of freedom in the Western Hemisphere is burning still brighter."

Red Flag denounced Khrushchev's policies in an editorial on "Leninism and modern revisionism."

"Modern revisionists deliberately lie to deceive the masses alleging that the dogmatists (Chinese) hope to push mankind to

Workers Strike Memphis Plant

JACKSONVILLE, Ark. (AP)—Striking workers threw a picket line around All States Trailer Co. at Jacksonville this morning, but Ivan Toler, president of the mobile home manufacturing company, said production would not stop.

The workers, members of Local 1,000 of the United Automobile Workers (AFL-CIO), reportedly were striking for higher wages in the face of a company demand that they take an eight cent an hour decrease and give up vacation and holiday pay.

Keith Boyez, vice president and general manager of the company, said the demands were necessary to prevent the company from going bankrupt again. The firm was declared bankrupt one year ago.

Boyez said if workers do not accede to the company's demand, it would have no choice but to bypass negotiations and hire non-union workers.

Toler said he was calling in temporary non-union help to keep the plant operating. He said the plant, which has been in Jacksonville 11 years, normally employed 66 persons. He said some 30 employees had been laid off recently because of the company's financial condition.

Injuries Fatal to Oklahoman

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—David E. Stewart, 18, of Stillwater, Okla., died in a Little Rock hospital Monday of injuries received Saturday in a traffic accident three miles north of North Little Rock on U.S. Highway 65.

He was the driver of a car which struck the rear of a truck driven by Ocus R. White, 40, of Fort Smith, police said.

A passenger in the Stewart car, Bill Terrell, 21, of Clovis, N.M., remains in a Little Rock hospital with a broken back, police reported.

On the brink of nuclear war," said Red Flag.

"Some persons (Khrushchev), indulging in sheer fabrication, say that the dogmatists want to demonstrate the superiority of socialism and communism over capitalism by means of war," it added.

"Socialist countries should rely on the just strength of the peoples, and their own just policies and should not engage in nuclear gambles in the international arena (Cuba)."

Dynasty of Ohio State May Be Ended

By ED CORRIGAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

A three-year dynasty by Ohio State as ruler of Big Ten basketball could be coming to an end with Illinois ready to step into the throne room.

After five straight humiliations dating to 1959, the Illini finally whipped Ohio State 90-72 Monday night and conceivably could have knocked the Buckeyes right out of the race.

The cool, collected Illini trailed by one point 37-36 at the half, but barged back to win going away.

The victory was the 10th in 11 starts for the Illini, and ran their conference record to 2-0. They rank No. 5 in the current Associated Press poll. Ohio State is No. 4.

Now Illinois must shake surprising Michigan and Indiana, both also sporting 2-0 marks. Michigan clubbed Iowa 83-67 Monday night with sophomore Bill Buntin connecting for 34 points. Indiana defeated Purdue 85-71.

In the Southeastern Conference, Kentucky got back on the right track by rolling over Vanderbilt, 106-82. The Wildcats, defending co-champions, hit an amazing 46 of 53 shots from the free throw line.

Mississippi State, which shared the title with Kentucky last year, was upset by Alabama 77-72 in overtime. That ran Alabama's conference record to 2-0 and 9-2 over-all.

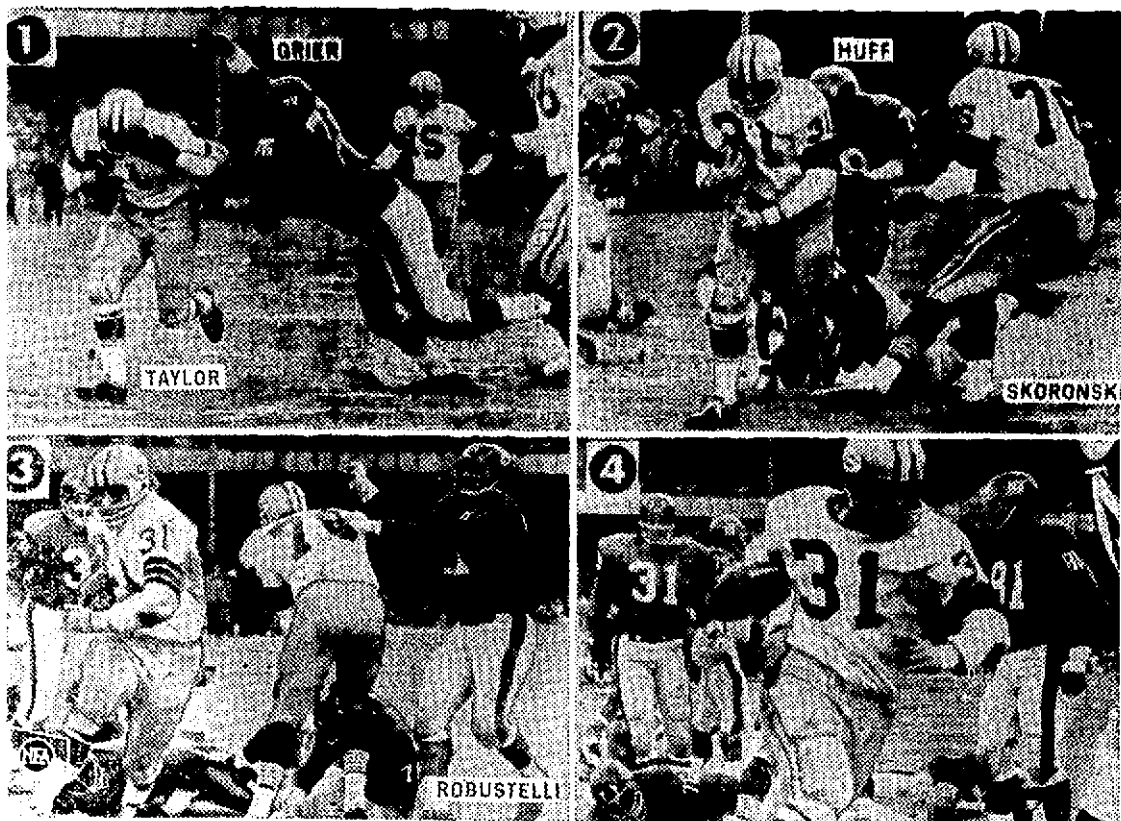

In other SEC games, Florida trampled Tulane 109-74. Auburn trounced Mississippi 79-44 and Georgia turned back Louisiana State in overtime 76-67.

Colorado, the Big Eight favorite, halted Nebraska 75-47 with Ken Charlton scoring 18 points. That left the Buffs with a 2-0 conference record. Oklahoma and Oklahoma State also show 2-0 marks. The Sooners downed Iowa State 91-85 and State rushed past Missouri 81-56.

Richmond edged Furman 74-71 in a Southern Conference game, and South Carolina whipped Virginia 68-64 in the Atlantic Coast conference.

HOW TO SCORE STANDING UP—Jim Taylor sprinted seven yards for Green Bay's lone touchdown in the Packers' 16-7 victory over the New York Giants in the National Football League's championship game at Yankee Stadium. (1) Taylor eludes Grier, (2) runs away from Sam Huff as Bob Skoronski moves in to block (3) Andy Robustelli and (4) the fullback reaches the end zone unmolested.

Seattle defeated Idaho State 79-72. Kansas State vanquished the Air Force Academy 58-42. Murray prevailed over Eastern Kentucky 89-78. Columbia routed Lehigh 74-66 and New Mexico polished off New Mexico State 84-65 in other major games.

29 Victories in Row by Top Cage Team

By JOE REICHLER

Associated Press Sport sWriter

Twenty-nine victories in a row this season, 66 games without a defeat at home and six consecutive weeks as the nation's No. 1 college basketball team. That's Cincinnati's enviable record today as the Bearcats again stand on top in the weekly Associated Press poll.

The Bearcats swept the boards, getting all 44 first-place votes from the panel of sports writers and sportscasters for a perfect 440 points.

Loyola of Chicago's high-scoring Ramblers clung to the runner-up spot, but three members of last week's top ten were knocked out of the elite group while undefeated North Carolina and thrice-beaten West Virginia moved into the select circle.

The ousted teams were Kentucky, UCLA and Auburn. The top ten, based on 10 points for a first-place vote, 9 for second etc., with first-place votes in parentheses.

1. Cincinnati (44) 11-0 440
2. Loyola Chicago 13-0 378

But Texas Southern had the game's top scorer—Maurice Batisse with 27.

Delight Takes Henderson Meet

ARKADELPHIA, Ark. (AP)—Always a bridesmaid, never a bride—that seems to be Amity's plight in the Henderson State Teachers College invitational high school basketball tournament.

Delight made Amity a bridesmaid again Monday night by taking a 48-43 overtime victory before 2,000 fans in the finals.

Amity also finished runner-up last year, to Sparkman.

Delight's squad didn't have a senior on it, but its sophomores and juniors showed well under pressure — especially sophomore Mike Lamb, who dropped in six free throws in the overtime to pace the triumph.

The score was tied 41-41 at the end of regulation play. Amity scored only one bucket in the overtime, and Curtis Hays got it on a layup.

Asks Opposition to Gambling

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Methodist Bishop W. Kenneth Pope is urging all Methodists to let their opposition to legalized gambling be known to their state legislators.

In a letter to ministers and congregations throughout the state the Bishop said that to keep silent "is a vote for legalized gambling."

He asked that Methodists object to the legalization of gambling before the opening of the 1963 general assembly Jan. 14.

He said he was convinced that the legislators do not want to vote for the proposal and would do so only if the gambling interests are the only interests from which they hear.

Man's Body Returned for Burial

CABOOL, Mo. (AP)—The body of Robert E. Wood of Cabool, which authorities were unable to identify for a period of two months was returned here Sunday for burial.

Officers said Ralph Key of Polk, Ark. was charged on Nov. 25 with first degree murder in the death of Woods, who was first thought to be Adam Justice of Pikeville, Ky. The charge filed originally was for the death of Justice, but Sheriff Clyde Orton said Saturday Key is now being held in the Pemiscot County jail at Caruthersville awaiting trial for the murder of Wood.

A spokesman for the Pemiscot County sheriff's office first reported Key and Justice had allegedly been bludgeoned to death.

The body was sent to Pikeville, Ky., on request of the family of Justice. When the body arrived, Justice's mother said it was not that of her son.

The FBI was asked to help identify the body and found through a check of fingerprints the victim was Wood, who had served in the Marine Corps during World War II. Orton said he had asked the FBI to try to find Adam Justice.

Old Favorite Returns to Television

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—An old favorite has returned to network television with undiminished charm, it is a pleasure to report. That is Marlin Perkins, the eminent naturalist with his fascinating tales of nature.

Perkins, now head of the St. Louis Zoo and a bit snowier atop after five years away, still has his way with beasts, birds and reptiles—calm and gentle.

In the first program of "Wild Kingdom," the new Sunday afternoon series on NBC, Perkins undertook to demolish some familiar myths. He showed that elephants do not fear mice, although the baby elephant in the demonstration promptly and violently tossed the white mouse off his head in a subsequent illustration of how pachyderms drink. He also conducted experiments demonstrating that vultures see food and don't "smell death"; that cobras follow movements and do not dance to music (they have no ears); and that animals can't foretell weather any better than humans.

It is a happy, family type program.

Something strange happened to "Twilight Zone" during the months it has been away. It used to be interested in the strange and bizarre. Now it likes monsters and mad scientists, sort of like horror movies.

The series, now an hour long, returned to CBS this weekend with a tall tale about a nice young man who returned to his home town after what he thinks is a short absence and finds everything changed.

240,000 residents, and the turnout was short of the 80 per cent goal set by the medical society. A make-up session will be held next Sunday.

Dr. Jerome Levy, chairman of the program's steering committee, said Type III vaccine would be given Feb. 24 and March 3 with Type II to be given later. Each type provides immunity to a different strain of the polio virus.

Cost of the immunization is 25 cents a dose or free for those who can't afford to pay. It is administered in sugar cubes to children and adults and in medicine drop pers to babies.
